The Hunt Ball.

Not for a long time has McBurney's Hall been so prettily decorated and filled with Alexandria's smart folk as on last night, when the Cameron Run Club held their hunt ball. The colors of the club—red and brown—were arranged in festoons of bunting around the walls of the hall, with the hunt club flag suspended from the ceiling. Palms and big bunches of poinsettia filled all the windows and the corners of the room. The supper served by an Alexandria caterer was really excellent, and the music furnished by Schroeder, of Washington, consisted of eight pieces, and the carefully selected tunes delighted the forty couples dancing. Judge Louis C. Barley led a german that delighted the most fastidious, introducing many new figures. The pink coats and black satin shorts which were worn by a few of the hunting men helped to make a most picturesque scene, combined with the brilliant dresses of the women.

Among those present were: Mrs. Monroe Love in blue chiffon, Mrs. Louis Barley in black net, Mrs. Douglas and Miss Wattle in black jet, Mrs. Marshall King in a beautiful gown of pink chiffon combined with real lace and tiny pink roses, Miss Edith Ramsey and Miss Lucy Douglas both in white, Mrs. Frank Mullan in black velvet and pearls, Miss Bessie Lee and Miss Ruth Bryant both looked radiant in spangled net, Mrs. Courtland Smith in a lilac sequin gown, Miss Danenbower in violet satin, Miss Dora Henry, of Berryville, Miss Nora Herbert, blue satin; Miss Haxall in a handsome accordion plaited yellow satin, Miss Anne Thomas, of Baltimore, in a black sequin dress; Miss Patterson, of Baltimore, in white; Miss Lucy Stone, of Warrenton, in white lace; Miss Marianne Bryant in pale blue chiffon, Miss Nannie Jones in blue and white silk, Mrs. Wm. Wattle in black, Miss Hattie Taylor in white, Miss Janet Henderson in white, Mrs. Henry Robertson in black lace, Miss Emily Elliott in pale blue silk, the Misses Williams, of Washington, in lavender silk and lace; Miss Fair, of Warrenton, in pink; Miss Lula Critcher in black and white, Mrs. A. V. Snell, of Washington, in pink, Miss Agnes Bryant in white silk, and Miss Jessie Armstrong in red silk.

The gentlemen were Messrs. Charles Harrison, Jervis Spencer, Harry Nordecal, Harry Belt, all of Baltimore; Messrs. John Larcomb, Jack Leibert, James and Ransom Norris, Foster Slaughter, Courtland Smith, Gardner Boothe, Robert Heath, Louis Barley, Hubert Snowden, Arthur Bryant, H. M. C. Lowe, Arthur Herbert, Paul Portner, Marshall King, Taylor Burke, Douglass Stuart, Gordon Thomas, George Stuart, David Rust, Philip Knox and Jack Henderson, of Orange, and others. The Hunt Club's two whips fully equipped in "pink" were stationed at the entrance.

The New Constitution.

The iconoclast of the new constitution and the acts of the legislature are causing much comment. It has just been discovered that by an act of the General Assembly, the Board of Health, as at present constituted, has been abolished, and that, its power terminated on the 31st of last January. The act provides that the judge of the Corporation Court shall appoint three licensed physicians upon the recommendation of the local medical society, who, with the mayor and the clerk of the Corporation Court, shall constitute the board of health. The act provides for the election of a secretary of the local board, said officer to be a physician. The same act applies to counties, where the judge of the Circuit Court shall appoint the three physicians to serve in conjunction with the clerk of court and the chairman of the board of supervisors. In cities the mayor shall be the president of the board, and in counties the chairman of the board of supervisors shall fill that office. One member shall be elected secretary, but no compensation is fixed for any of the officers or members. Under the provisions of the act the present Health Officer may retain his office but his power will be secondary to those of the new board. Sundry powers are given the local board, such as the enforcement of compulsory vaccination, &c., and the fixing of the compensation for the officers or agents employed in discharging certain sanitary duties, the latter power, however, to be exercised with the consent of the City Council or Board of Supervisors. It is also learned that under the present regime the mayors of cities cannot, as heretofore, call meetings of Council.

In connection with the above, it may be stated that a bill was offered in the House of Delegates today providing for the appointment of commissioners of the revenue by circuit judges.

The River.

The surface of the river was in motion this morning, bearing upon it the relics of the freeze in the shape of broken ice. There is virtually no barrier to navigation for steam vessels in front of the city, although both above and below ice-bound conditions prevail where cakes have run upon each other and formed as it were icebergs. In the curves in the river and in places where the channel is narrow considerable difficulty is experienced, and such localities are calculated to give trouble for some time, or until the ice finally runs off.

Some portion of the machinery of the steamer Estelle Randall broke yesterday evening while the boat was opposite Gunston on her way up from Glymont. Her passengers were placed aboard of the government tugboat Tecumseh and landed in this city and Washington, and later the tugboat Camilla was sent to her relief. The Randall was brought here by the tugboat about five o'clock this morning.

The steamer Newport News from Norfolk arrived up this morning about two hours late. The steamer was late in leaving Old Point. She experienced but little difficulty until she reached Lower Cedar Point where the ice caused trouble. While breaking her way through it some portion of the steamer's machinery became deranged, causing her to stop several times. Repairs were finally made, after which she proceeded to this port.

The tugboat Rescue, belonging to the Merritt Wrecking Company, arrived up this morning from Norfolk, and at 11:40 o'clock passed here on the way down with the Norfolk steamer Washington in tow. The latter, it will be remembered, lost her propeller near Fort Washington last Thursday morning. The Washington will be taken to Newport News for repairs.

Meeting Tonight.

As has heretofore been stated, a meeting of citizens has been called for tonight by Mr. M. B. Harlow, president of the Business Men's League, to devise ways and means to have the proposed new normal school located in Alexandria. The meeting will be held in the rooms of the league, southeast corner of King and Washington streets. This city offers a suitable location for such an institute, situated as it is within sight of Washington where the public libraries can be reached in half an hour's time. This of itself should be all the inducement necessary to placing the school here, as no other city in Virginia enjoys this benefit.

Passing of the Cold Wave.

The mercury in the thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 40°, a marked contrast to its position 48 hours before, when it was uncomfortably near zero. The rising temperature yesterday precipitated a thaw, and water was again gurgling in the sewers and passing down rain spouts. The heavens had been threatening, and at the close of the day a fog bank loomed up on the river. Shortly after dark rain began to fall, but by half-past 9 o'clock the stars were shining. The temperature today has been spring-like, and gutters and sidewalks which have been ice-bound for weeks were throwing off their sheathings.

Police Court.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]
The following cases were disposed of this morning:
Several persons who had been cited to appear and show cause why they should not be fined for allowing snow to remain on their pavements and ice to form, were dismissed with admonitions and given to understand that should they neglect to clear their pavements in future they will be made to pay the fine prescribed in such cases.
A young man, charged with purloining clothes from a line in a yard, had his case continued until 5 o'clock this evening.

Fires Last Night.

Early last night the cab of a locomotive in the Southern Railway yard caught fire and was partially consumed before the flames were extinguished. An alarm was sounded, but the department did not go into service.
Later a barn on the Mount Eagle farm, in Fairfax county, southwest of this city, caught fire and sent up a huge bank of light. The barn was entirely consumed, together with its contents—farming implements, feed, &c. Three horses perished before they could be removed. The property belonged to Messrs. Pierpoint & Studds.

The Market.

The market this morning was an improvement upon that of last Saturday, more country people and buyers being present. Prices, however, were about the same as those of last week. The display of produce, as is the case at this season, was by no means profuse. The butchers and hucksters had fine supplies of articles in their respective lines, while there was a better offering of fresh fish from several varieties. Fine-looking shad from Florida were in evidence. They were held at $1.80 per pair.

Scarcity of Oysters.

Ice conditions in Chesapeake bay continue to affect the oyster trade. Shucked oysters, which under normal conditions sell in Baltimore for $1 a gallon, are now $1.30, with a prospect of a greater increase. The same prices have been prevailing in Alexandria, where oysters have been exceedingly scarce for some time. Should the present mild weather continue for a few days longer, however, and the ice move out of the lower creeks, the bivalves will again be plentiful.

Poisoned by Blue Stockings.

Mr. George Drowns, living on north Payne street, is a victim of blood poisoning, the result of wearing blue stockings. Mr. Drowns was a sufferer from corns, and the dye from the stockings entering one which had recently been cut found its way into the circulation. Blood poisoning was manifested and in a short time Mr. Drowns' entire leg was causing him apprehension. He is being attended by Dr. Wilkins.

Organ Recital.

All arrangements have been completed for the organ recital to be given at St. Mary's Church next Thursday night. Tickets of admission will be issued to pew holders tomorrow and Monday; after those days any one wishing tickets can secure them by applying at the parsonage. A silver offering will be taken up.

Personal.

Miss Cummings this evening held a reception at her residence on Cameron street in honor of her guests, Misses Judkins and Little.

Mrs. J. M. Love is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. B. Daingerfield.
Miss Maloney, of Lynchburg, is the guest of her friend, Miss Mays, in this city.

Mrs. E. L. Daingerfield and her daughters, Misses Sallie and Mary Daingerfield, left today for Florida to spend a few weeks.

Rev. J. C. Holland, late pastor of the Second Baptist Church, of Danville, will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist Church at both the morning and evening services tomorrow.

Mr. Justus Schneider continues quite sick with grip at his home on Washington street.

Mr. Henry Schultz is confined to his home on Prince street by a severe attack of complicated grip.

Mr. Joseph Barcikowski, of this city, will be married tomorrow, in Baltimore, to Miss Celia Zyglarska, of Baltimore.

The Coming Parade.

A committee of the George Washington Birthday Association will visit Baltimore early next week and extend an invitation to the Fifth Maryland Regiment to visit this city on the 22d instant and take part in the parade.

The chairman of the transportation committee has been notified by the Railroad Commissioner that on account of the celebration of the Southern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac and the Washington-Southern Railway Companies will adopt the excursion rate of one fare for the round trip on all their trains coming into Alexandria. Tickets will be sold on February 20, 21 and 22, good to return Tuesday, February 23. These rates will bring large crowds from all over the State and there are many merchants and their friends who will naturally take advantage of these cheap rates.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, who has accepted the invitation to be chief marshal on the 22d, will be the guest of Captain Herbert Bryant.
The District Christian Endeavor Convention opened yesterday afternoon in the Sunday-school room of the First Congressional Church, in Washington and last night several denominational rallies were held in different churches throughout the city. The First Methodist Protestant Church was filled to its capacity at the meeting of that denomination, quite a large delegation coming from the church of that denomination in Alexandria. Mr. Ernest N. Pitman, of this city spoke on the subject of "Young People and Christian Endeavor."

The Dreaded Revenue Officers.
Several clippings from newspapers in southwestern Virginia have been sent to this office. They purport to be sayings of parties upon whom the eyes of revenue officers are directed. Some of the observations are directed especially at Mr. Park Agnew and his subordinates who exercise close espionage upon all suspected of distilling liquor. The articles are written in a humorous vein and are intended more as pleasantry than facts.

Theological Seminary.
We have received the catalogue of the Episcopal Theological Seminary for the current session. The seminary has five full professors, besides an instructor in elocution and music. It has this year forty-five students, who come from seventeen dioceses. Only seven are credited to the diocese of Virginia, of whom one is in the senior class, four in the middle, one in the junior and one is a special student.
"Sometimes my best girl calls me dear,"
Said Chollie with a frown.
"Sometimes she calls me lovey-dove,
Sometimes she calls me down."

The County Supervisors met today, audited some accounts and transacted some routine business.
John B. Burke died at his home near West Falls Church yesterday. The deceased was in his 70th year.

Michael Thomas, a former resident of this city, but now living in New Jersey, is on a visit to his old home.
All arrangements have been completed for the musicale to be held at Lee Camp Hall on Monday night next.

Mrs. Hannah Blouse was stricken with paralysis at her home in this city yesterday. Her condition is thought to be serious.
The Christian Endeavor Society of the Methodist Protestant Church will commemorate the 23d anniversary of the Christian Endeavor movement by a special service tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

The missionary secretary of the Free Methodist Church, Rev. Benjamin Wingard, of Chicago, Ill., will hold a meeting in the interest of foreign missions tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., at the Free Methodist Church, on south Lee street.

A large cake of ice, loosened by the prevailing thaw, was precipitated from the roof of Phenix Hall, northwest corner of King and Royal streets, today, and in its descent broke one of the wires of the electric light. Fortunately no one was hurt.

It was suggested by some market people this morning that while the authorities are enforcing the law forbidding householders from allowing snow to remain on pavements that the relics of the late storm should be removed from the market court.

The remains of William R. Hall, who died in Newcastle, Pa., last Wednesday, have reached this city, and the funeral will take place from his late home on King street, near Payne, tomorrow afternoon. The deceased contracted pneumonia while in Newcastle.

The alarm of fire about half-past 3 o'clock this afternoon was caused by the explosion of gasoline stove in the kitchen of the residence of Mr. Lemuel Cook, at the northeast corner of Cameron and Patrick streets. Considerable damage was done to the interior of the house before the flames were extinguished.

A circle of pearls pin was lost at the Hunt Club Ball last night. The finder will please return it to No. 406 north Washington street.

Come and Drink a Cup of Tea
